God chooses His own leaders in the world, And from the rest He asks but willing hands. As mighty mountains into place are hurled, While patient tides may only shape the sands. The weight of an eagle s body is many times greater than that of the air on which it flies. It, therefore, naturally gravitates toward the earth. Under the laws of gravity it would, if left alone, naturally fall to the ground, never to rise again. But this monarch of the air has the power within itself, and of its own right, to overcome the force of gravity and rise at will to realms beyond the clouds and the shadows of earth, into the clear sunlight of heaven.--From The Great Psychological Crime. 1 and you are your own master. No one asks where you are going or at what hour you will return. You do as you please. And if it pleases you to see life and know the world, you consider it nobody s business. It is a part of every man s education, you say. And even if you plant a crop of wild oats, that, own night-key, young man, too, you believe to be included in your Life School Curriculum. Every protest made you consider preaching. 5 But have you never observed that life itself is a great preacher? Life and Father Time are two great moralists. Even when they seem to be laughing comrades, helping you sow...
